The vast majority of existing civilization was built only in the last 150 years. It was built often to just barely accommodate the climate pattern that prevailed during that period. For example, many homes are just above the regular flood level. Whole states like California are just able to stretch the available water resources.

When the climate changes, it throws everything off in often catastrophic proportion.

4 Myths About How to Deal With Climate Change Effectively

The Paris agreement was a step forward. Now, coordinated and sensible action is required. To do that, we need to challenge the myths around how to deal with...

In order to provide a robot or computer with "self-awareness," we first have to give it a "self" to be aware of.

What is a "self" and how does it work? Is the self the same as "consciousness?" Well, most definitions of consciousness use "awareness" as the primary synonym so that brings us back to square one.

Is the "self" the mirror image of oneself? That seems to be the way scientists define self-awareness, i.e., the ability to recognize one's image. What if one never s... See More

Samoa Guy Did some research: Christmas origins are from the Asian indigenous Vin-native finlanders, another name or similar people are the Sami. The holiday is seasonal and weather dated, it was much later Christianized and adopted by the religion, adding there own reasons why they celebrate it. Catholics also adopted it, adding Santa as St. Nick.

In comparison, the super-wealthy #Roosevelts served and died in wars just like any other family.

Every one of these Republicans wants to send our young Americans into yet another decade long ground war in the Middle East. Not a single one has ever served a day in the in the military.

"The reason I am starting this petition is because I have just learned the truth about what really happened surrounding the missions in the eleventh grade, not the fourth grade. Around the 1760's, Native Americans were forced into practicing a new religion and culture and essentially stripped of their identities by the Spanish; these were the same actions that were taken by the Spaniards to eradicate the cultures of the Mayans and Aztecs in the 1500's. In 1769, the first mission was founded by Junipero Serra, who went on to found eight more throughout California. Spanish soldiers forced Native American to the sites of the missions, where they became slaves, built the missions themselves, and were forbidden to leave.'

' "Wind power is now the cheapest #electricity to produce in both Germany and the U.K., even without government #subsidies, according to a new analysis by Bloomberg New Energy Finance (BNEF). It's the first time that threshold has been crossed by a G7 economy.

For the first time, widespread adoption of #renewables is effectively lowering the capacity factor for fossil fuels. That's because once a solar or wind project is built, the marginal cost of the electricity it produces is pretty much zero—free electricity—while coal and gas plants require more fuel for every new watt produced. If you're a power company with a choice, you choose the free stuff every time. '

Solar and Wind Just Passed Another Big Turning Point

It has never made less sense to build fossil fuel power plants.

"I'm not going to stand up for a moment of silence again and then watch us do nothing," says Jackie Speier, who was shot five times while on a congressional fact-finding mission into the People's Temple in Jonestown, Guyana, in 1978.

California congresswoman won't stand for moment of silence

One California member of Congress will no longer stand on the House floor to pay tribute to mass shooting victims. The day after the horrific attack in San Bernardino,...
